THE NILA GROUP

The NILA group combines two key materials - structured denim.

The contrast of textures and a fresh take on denim make this group both expressive and versatile.

Key Features:

- * Structured denim is used in an unconventional way - through complex cuts and volume - focused silhouettes. These styles are ideal for clients who love denim but are looking for something original.

- * Important note: Denim is seasonless - it remains relevant in spring, summer, and fall.

- * Knitwear made with hemp and cotton provides a soft, transitional layer that complements the denim pieces and adds comfort.

Advantages of hemp fiber:

- * Natural and sustainable: hemp requires minimal water and no chemicals to grow.
- * Strong and long - lasting.
- * Naturally antibacterial and breathable - perfect for summer wear.

The NILA group is a well-balanced mix of everyday practicality and modern design ideal for both city dressing and relaxed summer looks.

THE TERRA GROUP

TERRA offers a fresh take on everyday wear with a vintage-inspired twist. The group combines cotton jersey and jacquard poplin, both treated with a dirty oil-based garment dyeing technique .

This process gives the fabrics a soft, aged character and a distinctive surface texture.

The result:

- * A softly worn, vintage texture,
- * The jacquard poplin gains rich volume and a 3D-like visual depth,
- * Selected pieces feature a cloud-like print, creating a subtle gradient effect.

Color palette:

TERRA is offered in two refined shades – ash grey and rose quartz. These can be styled as elegant monochrome looks or combined together for soft, tonal contrast with rich surface detail.

Key elements:

- * Jersey pieces work beautifully as a stylish alternative to traditional loungewear or sporty sets – perfect for casual strolls or travel.
- * Poplin items have a cleaner, more tailored look, making them suitable even for work environments with a dress code.

TERRA is all about comfort with character. From artistic dye effects to gradient prints and functional silhouettes, this group delivers versatile, elevated looks for every day.
